Guidelines for Clinical/Medical Documentation

Medical documentation should include:

- The nature of the diagnosis.

- How assessment of the diagnosis was done (i.e. Computer-based testing).

- An assessment of the level of impact that the disability has on function, specifically related to academics.

- Medication information—how side effects are or are not related to function in the educational setting.

- Professional recommendations for the educational setting.