Teaching of Social Studies (Professional) Clinical Experiences

Field Experiences and Clinical Practice
For those who are currently teaching: Your 50 hours will be divided between self-reflection on your own teaching, and regular observation of another teacher at your school. The minimum (in addition to your regular teaching) is one observation per week of the other teacher for the duration of the semester, although you are encouraged to do more if your schedule permits. Your blog posts (see below) should be equally divided between discussions of your own experiences in the classroom and these observations of another teacher.

For those who are not currently teaching: You must visit a secondary social studies classroom for five hours per week for a minimum of ten weeks. Please obtain a notebook in which you can record field notes during your visits. These notes should include specific information about your activities and observations of what is happening in the school and classroom.
