Mission

Teachers College, Columbia University Working Papers in TESOL & Applied Linguistics is dedicated to publishing research in the fields of TESOL and Applied Linguistics. Its mission is two-folds:

1. To promise dissemination of quality research
2. To facilitate academic exchanges between faculty and students of TESOL/Applied Linguistics and members of the profession worldwide.

---

The Editorial Board

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Role</th>
<th>Name</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Editor</td>
<td>Yuna Seong</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Book Review Editor</td>
<td>Elizabeth Reddington</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Web Editor</td>
<td>Di Yu</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Assistant Editors</td>
<td>Shafinaz Ahmed, Sarah Sok, Heidi Han-Ting Liu, Fred Tsutagawa, Nadja Tadic</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Faculty Sponsor</td>
<td>Prof. Hansun Waring</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

---

ISSN 1936-7384

tesolal.columbia.edu
Frequently Asked Questions

I would like to submit a manuscript to the journal for consideration. What do I do now?

a) Examine our submission guidelines at: tesolal.columbia.edu
b) Confirm your manuscript addresses at least one scope of interest of the Web Journal.
c) Be sure to adopt a conceptual framework that seeks to integrate theory and practice in writing the manuscript.
d) Peruse the Submission Checklist for requirements regarding the title page, abstract, formatting, etc.

I have read a book that I would like to review. What do I do?

Please contact our Book Review Editor to see if there is interest in publishing a review for the book. All book reviews should address current publications, generally not exceeding two years.

I have submitted an article for review. How long will it take until I know the status of my manuscript?

We will review your article in as timely and efficient manner as possible. We generally respond within 8-12 weeks. Please email the Editor for details.

I am a Master's student in my 1st semester. How may I get published by the journal?

While research article and book review submissions are both encouraged, new students may find it more manageable to start with book reviews.

Focus & Scope
Within a conceptual framework that values an integration of theory and practice, the journal publishes full-length articles dealing in a principled way with:

- second language acquisition
- second language assessment
- sociolinguistics
- pragmatics
- discourse analysis
- second language instruction
- second language teacher education

Reviews of books in these areas are also welcome.

TESOL/AL Web Journal: Some Fast Facts

- Website: tesolal.columbia.edu
- For submission and inquiries: tcwebjournal@tc.columbia.edu

Core Sections:
- Articles
- Book Reviews
- Forum
- Interview
- Field Report
- APPLE Award Winning Papers
- In Memoriam

Publishing Schedule
Two issues per academic year, Spring & Fall

Benefits for Students
- Grasp the most current advances in a variety of subfields in TESOL/Applied Linguistics.
- Identify potential topic(s) for essays, integrative projects, and doctoral hurdles.
- Use published work as models for principled research, thorough analysis, and/or articulate expression.