edTPA is a performance-based assessment that provides evidence that teachers beginning their careers are ready to teach.
There is a nationwide effort to ensure that beginning teachers are truly prepared to teach effectively. In many states, this initiative includes the adoption of edTPA, which requires candidates to demonstrate the knowledge and skills required to help all students learn in real classrooms. edTPA is not simply about theory as it requires teacher candidates to demonstrate what they can and will do on the job, translating into practice what research has shown to improve learning. edTPA is intended to be used as a summative assessment at the end of an educator preparation program and to support state and national program accreditation by providing evidence for program completion or teacher licensure decisions.

If you are a P–12 teacher who supervises or supports teacher candidates in their clinical experiences, you will see how edTPA creates a rigorous and meaningful experience for aspiring teachers and students. Teacher candidates will develop lesson plans and deliver instruction consistent with your school’s standards and curricula. For the first time, however, all teacher candidates will document the five priority areas outlined below:

edTPA Focuses on Areas Critical to Effective Instruction

<thead>
<tr>
<th>Teaching Area</th>
<th>Candidate Classroom Materials (Artifacts) Reviewed</th>

<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Planning</td>
<td>Lesson plans, instructional materials, student assignments, assessments, commentary justifying how plans meet student learning needs</td>

<tr>
<td>Assessment</td>
<td>Samples of student work, feedback to focus students, commentary analyzing student learning and justifying next steps for teaching</td>

edTPA was developed under the leadership of the Stanford Center for Assessment, Learning, and Equity (SCALE) in partnership with the American Association of Colleges for Teacher Education (AACTE). The edTPA process draws on experience gained from the 25-year development of performance-based assessments of teaching, including the National Board for Professional Teaching Standards and the Performance Assessment for California Teachers. Since 2009, thousands of teacher educators and P–12 teachers have collaborated on edTPA to meet the need for a nationally available research- and standards-based assessment of candidate performance and more than 641 campuses in 35 states are now using the assessment.

Videorecording requirement

Videorecording may be a new requirement for teacher candidates and they are cautioned to protect privacy and confidentiality. The video clips will be submitted for scoring purposes only, unless additional permission is requested.

Teacher candidates are expected to follow their cooperating school’s policies and protocols for obtaining the necessary parental/guardian permission, or to place those students without permission off-camera. Sample release forms are provided for reference at http://www.edtpa.com/Content/Docs/SampleReleaseForm.pdf and reflect the type of notification and permissions that must be obtained prior to videorecording. Additionally, teacher candidates should consult their preparation program for other specific information that may be required to include in the release form.

The video submitted by each teacher candidate will not contain the candidate’s name, the names of the cooperating teacher, school or district, or the last names of the students. Each teacher candidate must agree in advance that the video cannot be shared, posted publicly, or used for any other purpose without additional permission.
What you can expect

As a supervising teacher, your role will be the same as always—offering support for excellent teaching. Teacher candidates may need your input about the context and background of their students early in the process so that they can learn to plan instruction based on specific student strengths and needs. Also, you may find that candidates want to spend more time reflecting on their instruction and lessons in preparation for the written commentaries they must submit.

Your collaboration as a mentor and facilitator will be critical to the overall experience and success of your teacher candidate. In return, edTPA will foster professional dialogue that will enhance the mutual benefits for both veteran teachers and teacher candidates. Although many program activities and experiences provide acceptable forms of support for candidates within the edTPA process, other activities are not acceptable within a summative assessment process that is intended to determine whether each candidate individually demonstrates readiness for an initial license. This document clarifies acceptable forms of support for candidates during the edTPA process and those that are unacceptable.

Acceptable Forms of Candidate Support within the edTPA Process

• Providing candidates with access to handbooks and other explanatory materials about edTPA and expectations for candidate performance on the assessment
• Explaining edTPA tasks and scoring rubrics and guiding discussions about them
• Providing and discussing support documents such as Making Good Choices about what lessons or examples to use within the assessment responses
• Discussing samples of previously completed edTPA portfolio materials (where appropriate permissions have been granted)
• Engaging candidates in formative experiences aligned with edTPA (e.g., assignments analyzing their instruction, developing curriculum units, or assessing student work)
• Using rubric constructs or rubric language to evaluate and debrief observations made by cooperating teachers as part of the clinical supervision process
• Asking probing questions about candidates’ draft edTPA responses or videorecordings, without providing direct edits of the candidate’s writing or providing candidates with specific answers to edTPA prompts
• Arranging technical assistance for the video portion of the assessment

Unacceptable Forms of Candidate Support within the edTPA Process

• Editing a candidate’s official materials prior to submission
• Offering critique of candidate responses that provides specific, alternative responses, prior to submission for official scoring
• Instructing candidates on which video clips to select for submission
• Uploading candidate edTPA responses (written responses or videotape entries) on public access social media websites
The American Association of Colleges for Teacher Education (AECTE); the Stanford Center for Assessment, Learning, and Equity (SCALE); and Pearson invite educators to become scorers for edTPA®.

edTPA Scorer Qualifications

• Expertise in the subject matter or developmental level of the teaching field (degree and professional experience)
• Teaching experience in that field (or teaching methods or supervising student teachers in that field)
• Experience mentoring or supervising beginning teachers or administering programs that prepare them

edTPA Scorer Benefits

• Promotes a deep understanding of edTPA rubrics that will enable you to better support teacher candidates
• Support informed discussions with teacher candidates and colleagues
• Support educator preparation programs curriculum mapping, multiple-measures, assessment-system design, alignment with supervisory observations/evaluation, articulation with P–12 partners, and formative learning opportunities for candidates

edTPA Scorer Commitment

• Scorers must complete a training curriculum that includes about 19 to 24 hours of online modules and scoring of practice and qualification portfolios.
• In addition to completing the training, scorers from the P–12 community are expected to score a minimum of 8 edTPA portfolios within a month, depending on the number of submissions. University faculty can expect to score 1 to 2 portfolios per week, depending on the number of submissions. The total number of edTPA portfolios available to each scorer will vary based on the volume of candidate submissions.
• Scorers are also carefully monitored by trained scoring supervisors during scoring activities to maintain high quality.
• Portfolios are available for scorers to score at their convenience; the average time to score a portfolio is approximately 2 to 3 hours.
• Scorers are compensated for training time and for portfolios scored.
