Research-Informed Training to Transform K-12 Schools and Universities

Join Dr. Amra Sabic-El-Rayess and her team for an energizing day in which data, practice, and narrative converge to build safer and more unified learning communities. The conference marks the public launch of our newest training program within our growing Resilience to Hate Platform -- a suite of educational programs that translate cutting-edge research into tools educators, leaders, and educational professionals can use immediately. The conference will offer: 1) Research-informed Training with Dr. Sabic-El-Rayess to gain concrete, evidence-based strategies that harness storytelling to prevent hate; 2) An Exhibition of the Educational Initiatives within the Resilience to Hate Platform offering interactive stations that showcase the platform's other initiatives--curricula, digital tools, and community partnerships; 3) Exclusive Access to the full Unifying Stories Curriculum.

Choose "Remote" at signup for remote access or "In-Person" to join for a full-day of learning, networking, lunch, and a few surprises!

Register to unlock exclusive access to the Unifying Stories Curriculum after the training.
