AIMS AND SCOPE. Founded in 1998, the Graduate Student Journal of Psychology is a peer-reviewed publication devoted to clinical and counseling psychological research and practice. The GSJP is published annually and includes original empirical research articles, case studies, theoretical articles, and brief reports in the areas of adult and child psychopathology, the psychotherapeutic process, community mental health, multiculturalism, assessment, child development, ethics, professional development, and other topics with relevance to research or practice in clinical or counseling psychology.

MANUSCRIPTS. The manuscript submission deadline for next year's volume (Volume 11) is December 12, 2008. Submit manuscripts according to the submission guidelines printed in this issue. Please submit 3 printed copies of the manuscript along with an e-mailed electronic copy to: Editors, Graduate Student Journal of Psychology, Department of Counseling and Clinical Psychology, Box 102, Teachers College, Columbia University, 525 West 120th Street, New York, NY 10027; e-mail gsjp@tc.edu.

COPYRIGHT AND PERMISSIONS. Those who wish to reuse material copyrighted by the GSJP must secure written permission from the editors to reproduce a journal article in full or journal text of more than 500 words. The GSJP normally grants permission contingent on permission of the author and inclusion of the GSJP copyright notice on the first page of reproduced material. Access services may use unedited abstracts without the permission of the GSJP or the author. Address requests for reprint permissions to: Graduate Student Journal of Psychology, Department of Counseling and Clinical Psychology, Box 102, Teachers College, Columbia University, 525 West 120th Street, New York, NY 10027.
