INTRODUCTION

Project background and relevance

For our 2017 TCSOL practicum, our group project is to design tasks to develop learners' communicative competence in mandarin to buy SIM cards in China. After conducting some research on the real-life purchase of SIM cards in-country, we realized the complexity of this task and became concerned of its feasibility for foreign travelers in China. However, we have foreseen the pedagogic significance of this task in three aspects. First, it is applicable for any travelers who are curious about or interested in getting SIM cards in China. Second, it is an indispensable task for those who are staying in the country for longer terms. More importantly, getting a SIM card is a legitimate expectation to plan foreign trips, while current Chinese language programs and curriculum seldom cover this topic. Therefore, our group decided to accept the challenge and continue our work to fit the pedagogic niche.

Rationale

Our coursework learning and the Willis and Willis textbook on how to develop a task-based syllabus threw light on our project development. We set off to identify the real-life procedures of getting a SIM card in China and the communicative tasks it involves. Our online research only yields sporadic or even erroneous information in getting SIM cards in China, so we reached out to interview staff from China Mobile and China Telecom through phone calls and their online inquiry systems. In the end, we were able to create real-time dialogues between customers and staff in those SIM card stores. However, the original spoken texts turned out to be far beyond Chinese beginners or intermediate learners' linguistic and cultural competence. We then tailored it to better suit foreign travelers' practical needs while ensuring that it covers all important elements for them to successfully buy a SIM card in China. Based on the spoken texts we compiled, we created two videos to supplement the input. With the target texts settled, we moved on to design a pool of sub-tasks from which we selected, graded and sequenced our final pedagogic tasks. The theoretical framework is to be listed as following:

GETTING A SIM CARD IN CHINA

(Willis & Willis, 2015, p.197)

(Dr. Han, TCSOL Practicum, Session 5-6, p.5)

PROJECT OVERVIEW

Topic: Get a SIM card in China

Target students: Adult Intermediate

Class size: 12-15

Settings: Adult intermediates travelling to China (preferably longer stay in China, 2 weeks' minimum)

Conditions:

1. Inputs are shared among learners.
2. All Input shall be convergent.

Goals of the project:

1. To create sequenced tasks for learners to achieve target task.
2. To establish learner's interest and curiosity in Chinese cultural relevance, and enhance their engagement.
3. To reduce learner's affective filter and encourage them to travel to China.

Objectives:

Learners shall be able to:

1. Recognize where they can get a SIM card.
2. Know the procedure get a SIM card.
3. Express their needs of phoning and internet access.
4. Complete the procedure of getting a SIM card.
5. Understand the difference between Chinese telecom system and American telecom system.

TASK OVERVIEW

To achieve our project objectives, we select six pedagogic tasks. We substantiated those six tasks with interim goals, verbal/non-verbal input, condition, expected outcome, and detailed procedure. In each of our pedagogic tasks, we made sure our procedure offers guidance to optimize the four conditions of INFO. Also, we refined our pedagogic tasks according to Willis and Willis' (2003, p.86) seven parameters. Last but not least, we sequenced our tasks from high developmental /low performative complexity to low developmental/high performative complexity according to Robinson's (2003) Task Complexity Model. One important note about our project is that, considering the uncertainty of student traveling duration and their determination to get SIM cards in China, and the irrelevance for students to play out roles of store staff, we planned our final output-based task as “debate about whether to get a SIM card in China or not on given scenario” or “talk/write about your impressive experience of getting SIM cards in a foreign country”. The task complexity is to lay out as following:

Task 1: The Place to Buy a SIM Card

Task complexity	Resource-directing	Resource-depleting
	- Few elements	+ Planning time
	- No reasoning	+ Prior knowledge
	- Here-and-Now	+ Single tasks

High developmental complexity and Low performative complexity

Medium developmental complexity and medium performative complexity

TASK DESCRIPTION

TASK 1. The Place to Buy a SIM Card 办卡地点

Goal:

1. To learn words about Chinese places to buy SIM cards and recharge cards
2. To learn about the concept of “实名制登记” in China
3. To decide which store to buy SIM cards in China

Input:

1. Visuals: pictures of cards and stores, logos of three Chinese telecommunication companies, comparison table of the three companies' fees, teacher's PowerPoint showing all pictures and relevant Chinese nouns.
2. Video & its script: An American getting a SIM card in a local convenient store

Condition:

1. Split information: students get different pictures of stores to discuss with each other where to buy SIM cards in China.
2. Shared information: pictures of SIM cards, logos of three companies, comparison table etc.

Expected outcome:

1. During the process, students gradually demonstrate their competence to:
  - a. know which place to go for SIM cards in China
  - b. understand the idea of “实名制登记”
  - c. hear and say words like “营业厅”、“手机卡”、“充值卡”、“护照”
2. Product: Task 1 worksheet

Procedures:

SUBTASK 1: Introduce the topic-getting 手机卡 in China

Interaction pattern: teacher-led discussion

Suggested time: 5 minutes

GETTING A SIM CARD IN CHINA

Step 1: Teacher ask students to look at two SIM card pictures (included in students' worksheet). Teacher question: 这是什么? Teachers introduces the word “手机卡 / SIM 卡”. Have students take notes on their worksheet.

Step 2: teachers questioning: if you are visiting China, where do you think you can get 手机卡?

SUBTASK 2: Make inferences about which stores to buy SIM cards in China

Interaction pattern: student pair discussion, individual student presentation

Suggested time: 20 minutes

Step 1: Teachers hand one store picture to each student. Those pictures included 中国移动 / 电信 / 联通营业厅, 报刊亭, 手机店, 便利店 / 小店 (seen in Appendix I). Ask students to look at their own pictures and think whether they could get SIM cards in that store or not.

Step 2: Teachers ask students to discuss in pairs where they think sells SIM card in China. Make sure each pair get one right store and one wrong. Teachers walk around to help or assess student performance.

Step 3: individual student report & teacher introduction to store names. Teachers show two store pictures on the PowerPoint. Ask the student pair who got those pictures to tell everyone their inferences and explain why. Teachers bring in the names of “中国 XX 营业厅”、“手机店”、“邮亭”、“便利店/小店”. Give time for students to add names and notes to their pictures. No correct information is given on where to get the card at this point.

SUBTASK 3: Watch the video and understand “实名制登记”

Interaction pattern: student individual listening, pair discussion, teacher checking

Suggested time: 20~25 minutes

Step 1: Teachers play the video of buying SIM cards in a convenient store. Have students pay attention to the question: did the man get “手机卡” in the “便利店/小店”, why/why not?

GETTING A SIM CARD IN CHINA

Step 2: Ask students to turn to another classmate and form a new pair. Discuss in the pair about whether and why the American got the SIM card from the store or not. Teachers walk around to check student performance. The video can be replayed when necessary.

Step 3 (optional): Teachers could show the script on the PowerPoint for students while listening to it again. Or show the script for students to read for answers.

Step 4: Teachers check students' understanding. Teachers can invite students groups to answer questions like “这个人在小店买到手机卡了吗？”“为什么？”“店主推荐他去什么地方买卡？”“什么是实名制登记？” If necessary, teachers can show pictures and words on PowerPoint to support the introduction of “实名制登记”。

SUBTASK 4: where to go for the SIM card in China

Interaction pattern: teacher-led discussion

Suggested time: 5 minutes

Step 1: Show all store pictures on PowerPoint. Ask students to decide in group where they can really get a SIM card and explain why. Teacher confirm their answers and let students know they can only get recharge cards in those stores.

Step 2: Teachers guide students to look at the logos of the three telecommunication companies in their worksheet and make sure they are familiar with them.

TASK 2. The Procedures of Buying a SIM Card 办卡步骤

Goal:

1. To know the procedure of getting SIM cards in a telecommunication store in China.
2. To learn words and phrases relevant to getting SIM cards in a Chinese store

Input:

1. Video & script: An American getting SIM cards in the Chinese store
2. Student handouts: pictures with words to show steps of getting SIM cards in a store. Each student group have three steps to work on (Appendix II)
3. Student worksheet: procedure table

Condition:

1. Split information: incomplete procedure lists for each group to learn and study.
2. Shared information: all groups share their steps and come to a full list and order of the steps.

Expected outcomes:

1. During the process, students gradually develop:
  - a. Familiarity with the procedure of getting SIM cards in China
  - b. Understanding of steps “和营业员打招呼”、“排队取号”、“确认订单”、“付款”、“填写表格”、“签名”
  - c. Speaking ability of words like “套餐”、“上网流量”、“选择”、“手机号码”.
2. Product: Task 2 student worksheet

Procedures:

SUBTASK 1: Brainstorm: general steps to get a SIM cards in your home country

Interaction pattern: student pair discussion, teacher introduction

Suggested time: 5-8 minutes

Step 1: Teachers have students brainstorm in pairs: what is the procedure of getting SIM cards in your home country? Students are asked to list common steps and share with the class later. English use is allowed if students have to.

Step 2: Teachers invite one group to share their list first and ask other groups to supplement the list. After students' listing, teachers could introduce the Chinese words for some steps.

GETTING A SIM CARD IN CHINA

SUBTASK 2: Learn about steps to get SIM cards in China

Interaction pattern: student group discussion, group presentation to the class

Suggested time: 15-20 minutes

Step 1: Teachers divide students into at least 4 groups. Give each group a handout with 3 steps of getting SIM cards in China (visuals included). Have students study those steps in groups. Students can refer to dictionary or teachers for help. See the step assignment in the table below and student handouts in Appendix II. Guiding questions are given in teachers' PowerPoint: what are the people doing/saying in the pictures? What steps of getting SIM cards are these pictures? How can you say those three steps in Chinese? (Some difficult are repeated in those steps to improve students' success rate of understanding.)

1st group: <ol style="list-style-type: none"> <li>1. 签名</li> <li>2. 选择手机号码</li> <li>3. 确认订单</li> </ol>	2nd group: <ol style="list-style-type: none"> <li>4. 告诉营业员要买卡</li> <li>5. 选择电话套餐和上网流量</li> <li>6. 付款</li> </ol>
3rd group: <ol style="list-style-type: none"> <li>7. 给护照, 实名制登记</li> <li>8. 和营业员打招呼</li> <li>9. 读套餐表</li> </ol>	4th group: <ol style="list-style-type: none"> <li>10. 排队取号</li> <li>11. 告诉营业员你的选择</li> <li>12. 填写表格</li> </ol>

Step 2: Have students first fill in their comprehended phrases in the procedure table (see in students' worksheet). Invite individual groups to explain their assigned steps to the class. Their steps and pictures are shown on teacher PowerPoint. While one group is presenting, others are to fill in their procedure tables and list questions. The presentation group is to answer one question from other groups. Teachers help supplement and correct students' understanding if necessary.

SUBTASK 3: Order the steps

Interaction pattern: student group discussion, group presentation to the class

Suggested time: 5-8 minutes

GETTING A SIM CARD IN CHINA

Step 1: Teachers can ask students to mingle a bit to form groups with people they have not yet worked before.

Step 2: In their new groups, students discuss and decide the order of those above steps of getting SIM cards in China. Students are to write down their ordering in worksheet. After discussion, teachers can invite one group to share their ordering and reasoning.

SUBTASK 4: Watch the video and get the procedure right

Interaction pattern: individual student working, pair discussion, teacher-led confirmation

Suggested time: 10-15 minutes

Step 1: Teachers play the video of a man getting SIM card in the China Mobile store.

Students are asked to work on the table below while watching the video. They are to check all the steps they see in the video and order them.

( ) 签名	( ) 告诉营业员要买卡
( ) 选择手机号码	( ) 选择电话套餐和上网流量
( ) 确认订单	( ) 付款
( ) 给护照, 实名制登记	( ) 和营业员打招呼
( ) 排队取号	( ) 填写表格

Step 2: After listening, students can discuss in pairs about which steps are involved in the video and how to order them.

Step 3: Teachers can ask one student to share his/her order of the first three steps, and invite other students to offer comments. Then teachers can ask another student to list the next three steps and check whether others have the same order. The discussion can continue until teachers make sure everyone got the right order.

TASK 3. The Best Plan for Me 选择套餐

Pre-stage: [Warm-up]

Goal:

Help students gain a sense of what is it like buying a phone plan in China.

Procedure:

The teacher presents the question “谁去过中国?” to the whole class and has individual student give their responses. 2. For those who gave responses, the teacher will present another question “你去中国的时候买电话卡了吗? 在哪里买的?” And encourage students give their individual answers. Students should be able to answer different locations in Chinese since we did Task 1 already. 3. Based on the answers, the teacher will present a follow-up statement: “那我们今天来看看在中国买电话卡是什么样子。”

During-stage:

SUBTASK 1- listening and speaking

Goal:

Let students have a general idea about the process of buying a phone plan.

Input:

video clip

Conditions:

the input is used in a converging manner

Procedure:

Show a video clip twice

Part 1: Ask students working in pairs, discuss following question:

1. What is the video about?
2. Did the woman get her phone plan successfully?
3. What did not you know about buying a phone plan in China before you watch this video?
4. Any question about the video?

GETTING A SIM CARD IN CHINA

Part 2: Show the video again, this time focus on the detail of the conversation, try to answer the following question.

1. What did the woman say to express his needs for a phone card?
2. What didn't she understand in the conversation?
3. When did the staff give her a compliment?

Expected outcomes:

Students notice some expressions that these two speakers have used when buying a phone plan.

SUBTASK 2-reading: Read the worksheet of multiple choices.

Goal:

Students able to understand the process of buying a phone plan in Chinese and the suitable vocabulary and sentence structure.

Input:

reading input, worksheet of multiple choices.

Conditions:

the input is used in a converging manner Procedure:

Part 1: focus on meaning

Individual work: Learners watch the video and finish the multiple choice worksheet on their own.

Pair work: Learners pair up to check and confirm the answers.

Teacher's role: After pair discussion, the teacher shall ask some students to share their answers.

Expected outcome:

With the worksheet support, students know how to buy a phone plan in Chinese and understand the vocabularies related to express needs.

SUBTASK3-marching

Goal:

To ensure learners were able to express their needs on buying a SIM card. Learners be able to marching the different needs and phone plans, practice problem solving skills in Chinese.

Input:

Visual: Worksheet and character card.

- Character card: short passage of self-introduction from the characters including information like visit duration, phoning needs and internet needs.
- Worksheet: A table of phone plans with various prices.

Condition:

1. Split information: Learners
2. Divergent manner: Learners may come up with different suggestions, explain the reasons.

Procedure:

- a. Individual work:

Think about what you would need in your phone plan. Teacher pick one or two learners to share.

- b. Group work:

Learners form a group of four and each person receive a character card. Learners explain the card to group members without showing. Base on the phone plan table, discuss and give suggestions on which phone plan the person should buy.

- c. Teacher's role:

After group discussion, ask which phone plan learners chose for the character. Ask for reasons.

- d. Individual work:

Now that you heard different ways to express your needs, do you feel you could do better than before? Teacher let one or two learners volunteer to share.

Outcome:

Opened outcome

By the end of this task, learners would be able to use simple descriptive language to make brief statement about and compare objects. Through matching the description to the information provided, learners learn to process and negotiate the visual information with peers.

Post stage:

SUBTASK 4-listening and Writing: Dictogloss + Filling the information gap

Goal:

students know how to use the vocabularies and pay more attention on correct forms.

Input:

Visual: Video

- Video: Focus on how to express their needs on buying a SIM card.
- worksheet.

Condition:

The input is used in a converging manner

Procedure:

1. Listen to the dialogue and fill the gap individually.
2. Working in pairs to discuss and come up with one final transcript.
3. Encourage several students read aloud their transcripts.
4. Comparing with the original conversation transcript that will be displayed on the board and make correction individually.
5. The teacher asks students what they have noticed by comparing their work with the original work and encourages them to realize some common mistakes.

Expected outcome:

Students will notice more functional word and know how to use the vocabularies.

TASK 4.

Get a card 辦卡囉

Goal:

1. To practice the whole process of getting a SIM card.

Input:

Visual: Video

- Video: Focus on what might be asked and how to answer.

Condition:

1. Shared information: video
2. Convergent manner: Learners should be able to choose the correct answer.

Procedures:

Pair work:

Learners pair up to take turns playing the clerk and customer. The clerk gets a script of what they should be asking.

Teachers' role:

Walk around the classroom and help with the conversation.

Outcome:

Opened outcome

By the end of this task, learners would be able to use simple descriptive language to make brief statements about and compare objects. After finishing the roleplay, learners will know the expressions to fulfill the needs to buy a SIM card.

TASK 5. True or False 办卡面面观

Goal:

1. To provide Ss with the need to use what they have just learned in a meaningful context
2. To create opportunities for learners to test hypothesis and restructure their developing language system
3. To enhance Ss' automaticity in spontaneous language use
4. To assess learners' mastery of linguistic knowledge

Input:

1. Verbal—5 statements given by teacher.
2. Visual support--pictures

Condition:

1. The input is shared by all the students.
2. The input is expected to be used in a converging manner.

Procedures:

Pair work

Outcome:

1. Processes: Pair/group discussion and negotiation
2. Products:
Oral: report back to the whole class to talk about the reason you believe it is true of false.

TASK 6. Choose Your Lucky Number 选择号码

Goal

To provide students basic knowledge about the culture of numerals in China

Input

Verbal input: written texts presented on PowerPoint; spoken discourse in video

Non-verbal input: video; pictures

Conditions

Shared information

Divergent

Predicted Outcome

Product: making decisions based on the culture of numerals in China

Process:

Linguistic: making decisions & giving explanations to the decisions

Cognitive: matching & problem-solving

Procedure

SUBTASK: Priming (Pre-Stage): 引入话题：中国数字文化

Introduce the topic of the culture of numerals in China

Interaction: T-Ss (teacher with the whole class)

Time: 5 minutes

Input: video

1. Re-playing the section about phone number selection of the video

2. Questioning:

Q1: 什么是吉利？

Q2: 在你的国家或者文化中，有哪些数字是吉利的？有哪些数字大家都喜欢？

那么，有那些数字大家都不喜欢呢？

Q3: 你们知道原因是什么吗？

GETTING A SIM CARD IN CHINA

SUBTASK 1 (During Stage): 了解中国数字文化

Obtaining knowledge about the culture of numerals in China

Interaction: S-S (pair or group work)

T-Ss (teacher with the whole class)

Time: 10 minutes

Input: written texts

Character cards

我的名字是小花，今年 23 岁，来中国交换半年。我每天用 16 小时的手机所以我需要很多流量，贵一点也没关系，还要跟在中国的爸妈打电话，大概每周两次，一次半小时。

我的名字是大雄，今年 50 岁，来中国当一年的客座教授，我每天需要收很多邮件，也喜欢上网看影片，没有甚么打电话的需要，不用担心预算。

我是小明，今年 17，跟家人来中国玩两个星期，我想要有足够的流量可以上传照片，还要能在和家人走散的时候打给他们，希望不会太贵。

我叫雅琴，今年 40 岁，第一次自己出国，要在中国待一个月，我到处都有朋友所以要能够打电话跟他们联络，我没有上网的需求所以没有网络也没关系，便宜一点的套餐最好。
