Religion

Many people are who they are because of their religion. Many people do not know what religion is but religion is what you believe in. It shows your identity and who we are. We live our life in what we believe in. Also Rosa Parks believed in blacks having the same equality like whites so what she did was not move from the front of the bus to the back of the bus. Religion also shows how we treat others. Some people that believe in God would sometimes treat people different from someone that don't believe in God. Some cultures also show their religion by how they dress. Some religions dress a like such as Muslims and the Jewish faith. Religion plays a role in our lives because it defines our identity and shapes who we are.

Religion plays a role in our life because we live our life in what we believe. For example in a movie called Stigmata a lady did not believe god, but she was actually feeling the crucifixion that Jesus went through. Like the nails going through his wrists, she went through that and when she woke up after the slashing, she had a hole through each wrist like Jesus. Everything Jesus went through, she was going through it too but she did not understand why. Martin Luther King fought for what he believed in and he even made a speech about it, he wanted his people to be free and have the same rights like the whites. What Martin Luther king said was, "Free at last! Free at last! Thank god almighty, free at last!" That means blacks, and all nationalities can now do what they want instead of being told what to do because of the color of their skin. Also he was thanking God for being free. That was a quote from his speech "I had a dream".

Sometimes people that believe in God, go to church, and treat people with a lot of respect. This is true because they will usually say God has blessed this child and life is so short to be doing things that are worthless. They also treat people with respect because they are saved, so everything is done in God's commandments. People that believe in God will encourage others to read the bible. Some people that do not believe in God are disrespectful and have low self-esteem and do not really care about anything. This is true because there are a lot of people I know are like this.

We live our life in what we believe in like items and how it affects them. For example, according to an article Atheists Discuss the Benefits of Faith, Niels Bohr, a good physicist had a good luck horseshoe hanging in his office. He believes that "it works whether you believe in it or not". He does believe in it because he lets it hang in his office. That shows how items can be something that some one can believe in.

Expand this

Religion plays a big part of our lives and it stays with us. It shows our identity and shapes that we are. Religion is apart of us and no matter how bad people do not want it. When people hear the word, they automatically think about God because he has everything to do with it. Religion is the service and worship of God or the supernatural and a system of religious beliefs and practices. Religion plays a role in our lives because it affects our lives both physically and mentally. It defines our identity and shapes who we are.

Many people are who they are because of their religion. Many people don't know what religion is but religion is what you believe in. It shows your identity and who you are. We live our life in what we believe in. Just like Kanye West told George Bush that George Bush doesn't like black people. That is what Kanye believed. Also Rosa Parks believed in blacks having the same equality like whites so what she did was not move from the front of the bus to the back of the bus. Religion also shows how we treat others. Religion plays a role in our life because we live our life in our ^{beliefs} beliefs for example a movie that shows religion is a movie called stigmata, a lady didn't ^{believe in} believe in god, but she was actually feeling the pain that Jesus was going through. What Martin Luther King said was "

and have the same rights like the whites. "Free at last! Free at last! Thank god almighty, free at last!" That was a quote from his speech, "I had a dream".

What this quote means is that they do what they want of what they want. He is being told that he is being told because of their skin color. Thanking God for being free.

Sometimes it shows what religion you are the way you treat others. Sometimes people that believe in god and go to church, treat people with a lot of respect. Many cultures show their religion and culture by how they dress. For example women Jews wear the same thing and that is the same for men Jews too. The men and women wear a mini cap and wear the same colors. Muslims have to wear long robes that are black and you can only see their eyes. That goes for the women. All men have the same thing to. That's their religion and that's what Muslims do. Some respect it and some don't.
